

People Are Fairest Judge

A few years ago, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un got aboard a tramcar on a trial run despite his busy schedules.

After estimating its buzzing sound for a while, he repeatedly said it was manufactured well and that it proved its worth.

Feeling awkward, an official said the tramcar could be wonderful as they manufactured it according to the design he had sent to them.

Kim Jong Un said: The prototype tramcar was manufactured by our working class. They made painstaking efforts to make it well. The new tramcar is to be judged by the people, not by me.

That day, he stressed that our Party would pluck even a star from the sky if it was the wish of the people.
