

Earnest Request

One March day in 2014, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un visited the Ryugyong Dental Hospital.

Not only medical workers of the hospital but outpatients were filled with great excitement as all of them had never expected to meet him.

Making his way to the treatment rooms, Kim Jong Un asked the officials if they had any difficulties in the operation of the hospital.

After solving their knotty problems, he said: The hospital should not be a facility for a show. It should be devoted to treating patients, a facility serving the people and showcasing the advantages of our country's socialist healthcare system.

It represented his earnest request that the hospital should become a facility for the good of the people which would make a tangible contribution to promoting their health.
