

Make Products to Be Favoured by People

One June day in 2014, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un visited the newly-built Kalma Foodstuff Factory prior to its inauguration.

Making the rounds of a production control room, processing room, freezing room and other places, he learned in detail about its construction. He said to the accompanying officials that it was the intention of the Party to build the Kalma Foodstuff Factory into the archetype and model of a fish-processing base to meet the requirements of the new century.

Then, he stressed: As the project is nearing completion, close attention should be paid to completing the interior and exterior of the factory at the highest level and setting up drainage and ventilation systems properly in the processing rooms so as to thoroughly ensure the hygienic safety in the shop floors. The factory should turn out processed marine products far superior to those made in other countries in terms of taste and quality, and thus mass-produce good seafood to be favoured by the people.
