

Pleasure of Working for the People

One October day in 2013, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un visited the Munsu Water Park under construction.

Feasting his eyes on the gym in the water park, he said: The gym looks wonderful the more I see it. Our people, young people in particular, would feel very pleased if they can enjoy themselves in the wading pools and then play games like volleyball in the gym.

Looking up to him, the officials recalled what happened in the previous days.

On a hot summer day several months ago, he visited the construction site and said there was no gym in the park, and that there should be one in it.

Next day he sent them the gym's formation plan he personally had gone over.

As if he forgot his efforts he had made for the gym, he was all smiles as he was picturing in his mind's eye the people who would feel happy enjoying themselves in the gym.